Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 15 May 2006.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.
- 3) ☐ Since this application is in condition for allowance except for formal matters, prosecution as to the merits is closed in accordance with the practice under Ex parte Quayle, 1935 C.D. 11, 453 O.G. 213.

Disposition of Claims

- 4) ☒ Claim(s) 1-5 is/are pending in the application.

DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

This Office Action is in response to applicant's arguments filed on 5/15/06.

Claim(s) 6-8 have been cancelled. Claim(s) 1-5 are pending. Claim(s) 3 has been amended. Claim(s) 1-5 are examined herein.

Applicant's amendments have rendered the 112 rejection of the last Office Action moot, therefore hereby withdrawn. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but found not persuasive. The double patenting and 103a) rejections of the last Office Action are maintained for reasons of record and repeated below for Applicant's convenience.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-5 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of copending

Art Unit: 1617

Application No. 10/385,597. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims disclose an obvious variation of a method of contraception by administering to a menstruating female a composition comprising estrogen and progestogen for 42 consecutive days followed by a hormone-free period.

Claims 1-5 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-5 of copending Application No. 10/955,276. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims disclose an obvious variation of a method of contraception by administering to a menstruating female a composition comprising ethinyl estradiol and norgestimate for 42 consecutive days followed by a hormone-free period. In both cases, the subtle differences in dosages and length of administration are obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to optimize.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's request to address these grounds of rejection until allowable subject matter is disclosed is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham vs John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Kovacs et al. (The British Journal of Family Planning, 1994, 19, pg. 274-275) in view of Smallwood et al. ("Efficacy and Safety of a Transdermal Contraceptive System" Obstetrics & Gynecology, vol. 98, no. 5, part 1, 2001, pg. 799-805).

The instant claims are directed to a method of contraception comprising administering to a menstruating female a transdermal composition comprising ethinyl estradiol and norelgestromin for at least 56 successive days.

Kovacs et al. teach a trimonthly method of contraception (pg. 274, left column, paragraph 1) for menstruating women (pg. 275, right column, paragraph 9). The contraceptive comprises a daily dosage of ethinyl estradiol (estrogen) and a progestogen (levonorgestrel) (pg. 274, right column, paragraph 3) for 12 weeks followed by one week of placebo (pg. 274, left column, paragraph 1). Half of the female patients discontinued the regimen because of breakthrough bleeding (pg. 274, left column, paragraph 1).

However, Kovacs et al. does not specifically disclose the combination of ethinyl estradiol and norelgestromin.

Smallwood et al. teach a method of contraception comprising administering a daily transdermal composition comprising ethinyl estradiol (20 µg) and norelgestromin (150 µg) for 21 consecutive days followed by 1-week hormone-free period. This method provides enhanced bleeding control and is well tolerated (abstract). The women must be sexually active and at risk of pregnancy as well as have regular menstrual cycles (pg. 800, right column, second paragraph).

It would have been prima facie obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the claimed invention was made, to substitute the contraceptive composition in the regimen as taught by Kovacs et al. with the composition comprising ethinyl estradiol and norelgestromin as taught by Smallwood et al.

A person of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to make this substitution because the composition disclosed by Smallwood et al. enhances bleeding control and is well tolerated in females.

Response to Arguments

Applicant argues that cited references do not teach a transdermal extended contraceptive regimen. This is not persuasive because clearly Kovacs et al. teach a trimonthly method of contraception for 12 weeks and Smallwood et al. teach a method of contraception for 21 consecutive days.

Applicant argues that the cited references do not teach that extended transdermal contraceptive regimens provide enhanced continuation and satisfaction rates, longer median time-to-first bleed, fewer mean bleeding days through day 56, and reduced median incidence of headaches. This is not persuasive because Applicant argues for limitations that are not in the claims.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., superior benefits) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
